

Digital delivery upgrade at JCA

JCA has recently purchased the Aspera Enterprise server to assist with global digital deliveries. The need to provide digital deliveries to so many new platforms and clients led JCA to extend its Aspera offering.

“ We had already invested in Aspera products for our dedicated point to point deliveries for transmission preparation, but now our clients are increasing their needs for ad hoc digital deliveries to all parts of the world. The Aspera platform allows faster deliveries and ease of transfer to customers with whom JCA have no established delivery history. Using our Digital delivery portal and Aspera, clients can assign content for delivery and the system does the rest!” stated Managing Director Simon Kay.

JCA.tv is a Digital Content Management service provider. Established in 1988 and acquired by Nick Pannaman and Simon Kay (TVP Group) in 2004.
